Stethoscope

A Medical Staff commitment to caring for his patients' health while also caring about the patient as a person

Ellipsis

A symbol that there is a continuation. Just like in the medical field, we never stop unless the patient is illness-free.

Speech Balloon

Representing the speech or thoughts online messengers.

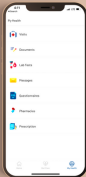

The care you need in the place you love.

During the pandemic, a lot of people cannot go out due to the preliminary measures of the government because of the worldwide spread of the COVID-19 Virus originated in Wuhan, China.

We wanted to seek our patients during those times but due to the restrictions, we missed a lot of opportunities to meet those who are in need and help them personally.

This inspires us to build a Telehealth mobile application where patients can get online consultations from doctors virtually. With just a tap of a finger, you can seek medical consultation, advice, and there is so much more that is in store for you.

This application caters to the need of the patient who is always on the go or a patient who cannot go out. Here in Alotab, we always care at our best wherever and whenever you go.

Features

Artificial Intelligence

Being a part of innovating the needs of healthcare in our society, the artificial intelligence (AI) technologies becoming ever-present in modern business and everyday life is also steadily being applied to healthcare. The use of artificial intelligence in healthcare has the potential to assist healthcare providers in many aspects of patient care and administrative processes.

Most AI and healthcare technologies have strong relevance to the healthcare field, but the tactics they support can vary significantly. And while some articles on artificial intelligence in healthcare suggest that the use of artificial intelligence in healthcare can perform just as well or better than humans at certain procedures, such as diagnosing disease, it will be a significant number of years before AI in healthcare replaces humans for a broad range of medical tasks.
